RM Education

Welcome to a place where innovative ideas are brought to life and successful careers are made. We're the future of technology, resources and services in education, but this isn't a place just for techy-types. We're looking for a different class of graduates - creative thinkers with the desire for change and the passion to make a difference every day. Our Graduates will become the next managers and leaders of the business - our former CEO, Tim Pearson (2002 - 2008) joined as a software engineering graduate in 1981. That's why from day one you are given real responsibility and can make a very visible contribution to business and customer success.

RM Education is big enough to provide ample career and structured professional development opportunities, but not so large that your talent goes unnoticed. By selecting just 20-30 graduates annually across all the disciplines, you can be sure to be given significant focus and support. What's more, as the business expands internationally, exciting new work challenges and fantastic career & personal development opportunities will be up for grabs:

- Graduate Product Managers
- Graduate Project Managers (Office-Based)
- Graduate Project Managers (Customer Implementations)
- Graduate Sales Consultants
- Graduate Technical Architects
- Graduate Marketing Executives
- Financial Accountant

It's your future in the making - what will you create?
